

Process Description:

Protrusion vectors calculated in the protrusion step are sampled for each window. The sampling result is a matrix of protrusion/retraction statics for each window on the edge of the cell and for each frame of the movie. This matrix is often referred to as a protrusion map.

References